Library Policy Manual

Policy Name: Texas Women’s Hall of Fame Policy

Last Library Review: June 2022

Next Library Review: June 2023

Purpose: This policy defines the usage and management of the space designated as the Texas Women’s Hall of Fame.

Note: Access, availability, usage, and occupancy limits may be changed in accordance with University guidelines regarding health and safety.*

Policy:

The Texas Women’s Hall of Fame (TWHF) is located on the second floor of the Blagg-Huey Library. Its purpose is to recognize women who have attained significant achievements in areas such as the arts, community service, education, leadership, health, science and business.

The TWU Libraries Special Collections staff manage the selection, organization, installation and de-installation, and preservation of exhibits or displays in this area. The Texas Women’s Hall of Fame is under the governance of the Jane Nelson Institute for Women’s Leadership (JNIWL). The Special Collections Department works in collaboration with the JNIWL with regard to the ongoing maintenance of the Texas Women’s Hall of Fame. The TWHF is open when the Blagg-Huey Library is open.

Persons seeking the opportunity to utilize the space identified as the Texas Women’s Hall of Fame must seek approval from the Director of the Jane Nelson Institute of Women’s Leadership.
