

TWU Guidelines and Core Course Embedded Assessment Plans 2009-2010

Person to contact if there are questions about your assessment plan: _____

1. Each approved core course should be assessed with course embedded assessment when the core area is scheduled for assessment.

>>Which core course in which core area (such as Social/Behavioral Sciences, Multicultural Women's Studies, etc.) will you assess this academic year?

[List only one & complete a separate sheet for each course.]

Core course:

2. The assessment must address the core learning outcomes (“Exemplary Objectives”) for which the course was approved. Note: Not every course teaches and assesses every learning outcome for the particular core area, but most of the outcomes are taught in a given course. The original review rubric and current syllabi should make clear which of the outcomes are taught and assessed.

>>> Which Exemplary Educational Objectives are taught and being assessed in this course? [Please use the numbers listed in the online Core Curriculum list of EEO's: State and Local Educational Objectives]

3. Different sections of the same course should use the same assessment tool or embedded test questions. In courses with very large enrollment (over 100 students), it may not be necessary to assess all students – unless the sections are using different syllabi.

>>>How many sections are being assessed?                      How many students?

>>>How many total sections are taught in this course in this academic year?

4. Types of assessment that could be used:
  - Pre- and Post-Tests
  - Pre-and post Performance Tests
  - Course- Common Tests
  - Writing Assignment (with common assessment rubrics)

>>> Which type of assessment is being used with this course?

5. Materials to be submitted with this form

Please send the following with this sheet by the end of the semester:

- a. Course syllabus/ syllabi (with core learning outcomes clearly listed)
- b. Course assessment tools [exams, rubrics, etc.]

Note: The results and short description of assessment process will be due after assessment is done.
