

Department of History and Government Texas Woman's University

Interested in Teaching Basic Survey Courses in History and Government in Community Colleges or Dual-Credit Courses in High School?

Consider the Option of a Master's Degree at TWU in History and Government (21 credit hours of History including a Professional Paper, and 18 credit hours of Government), or in Government (21 credit hours of Government including a Professional Paper, and 18 credit hours of History)

TWU Offers a Mix of Evening and Blended Distance Education Graduate Courses in U.S. and global aspects of history, politics, and law.

History

Government

Law

Successful completion of the program provides students with two teaching fields, and the advanced degree required to teach at two-year colleges as well as offer dual-credit courses in high school

For more information, contact Dr. Mark Kessler, Chair,
Department of History and Government
(mkessler@twu.edu)