

TEXAS WOMAN'S UNIVERSITY
UPDATE
DENTON/DALLAS/HOUSTON

Issued by the Office of Public Information, Texas Woman's University, Denton, Texas 76208 840-870-3088

Vol. 17, Number 12, November 7, 1994

ALUM NAMED REGENT

TWU alumna Sheila Whitaker-Kellagher has been appointed to the university's board of regents, effective Oct. 14, by Gov. Ann Richards; her term will continue through Feb. 1, 1999. Whitaker-Kellagher, age 35, earned her bachelor's degree from TWU in physical therapy. She currently is president of Trucare Health Systems in Dallas. The appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Whitaker-Kellagher is filling the unexpired term of Lucy Billingsley of Dallas, who resigned earlier this year. The TWU graduate is a member of many professional organizations, including the American Physical Therapy Association, the Texas Physical Therapy Association, the Texas Home Health Association and the Texas Health Care Association. She also is a member of the TWU National Alumnae Association.

During a unique ceremony on campus Nov. 1, Whitaker-Kellagher was sworn in as a TWU regent by TWU distinguished alumna Justice Maryellen Hicks of the Second District Court of Appeals. Both TWU alums were excited about the contributions they have made to the university. Whitaker-Kellagher said, "Being an alum on the board of regents will give me a perspective on the issues. I am honored and excited to serve." The TWU board of regents will hold their next quarterly meeting on Dec. 9.

FALL READING FORUM SET

TWU's 29th annual Fall Forum on Reading will explore "Reading Across the Curriculum" during the one-day program on Sat., Nov. 12. The forum, which is sponsored by the TWU department of reading and bilingual education, the School of Library and Information Studies and the Denton Independent School District, will be held from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in MCL auditorium. Designed to promote reading among school children by reaching educators and administrators, the conference is $41 per person; a box lunch is $7 extra per participant. For registration and information, call the TWU office of continuing education at ext. 3408.

Two general sessions and several breakout programs are scheduled for participants, as well as an early-morning book sale. The featured speakers for the general sessions will be Dr. Donna Alverman, research professor of reading education at the University of Georgia, and Seymour Simon, author of almost 150 acclaimed science books. Alverman, who is co-director of the National Reading Research Center, holds a doctorate in reading education from Syracuse University and previously taught for 12 years in the public schools of Texas and New York. Her research focuses on the role of classroom discussion in content reading instruction. She is past president of the National Reading Conference and is the co-author of Content Reading and Literacy: Succeeding in Today's Diverse Classrooms.

Simon has introduced thousands of children to a large number of scientific areas; more than one-third of his books have been named Outstanding Science Trade Books for Children by the National Science Teachers Association. His subjects have included anatomy, climate and weather, planets and space, oceanology, and animals of all kinds, ranging from dinosaurs to snakes. Many of Simon's book ideas originated with his work in the classroom, although he says, "To me, a book about nature or science has to be more than just an answer book." Simon's texts raise questions -- and interest in science and nature -- among his young readers.

Selected topics and speakers also scheduled include: "Primary Children's Responses to Seymour Simon's Books" by Connie Compton of TWU and Marcia Kellum, Denton ISD; "The 'Write' Way to Read" by Karen L. Liberto, Sanger ISD; "Integrating Literature Across the Curriculum" by Sherri Bernstein, Lewisville ISD, and Janet Ritchie, Coppell ISD; "Great Books for Content Classrooms" by M. Jean Greenlaw, University of North Texas; and "Using Children's Choices" by Marianne Farner, Richardson ISD, and Cindy Bickhaus, Denton ISD.

COLLEGE DAY ACTIVITIES SCHEDULED

While TWU's enrollment for fall 1994 topped the 10,000-student mark, counselors and recruiters in the office of admissions continue their work to attract new students for next year by hosting a variety of events during the fall and spring semesters. Prospective students who want to find out more about TWU will attend College Day on Sat., Nov. 19, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Hubbard Hall for several informative sessions, a panel discussion, campus tours and other activities. TWU President Carol Surles will provide an overview of the university, and Judy Southard (athletics) will deliver the main address. Registration begins at 8:30 a.m. in the south foyer of Hubbard Hall.

Other activities include an academic/campus fair at 9:30 a.m., when prospective students will visit with representatives of academic departments, student services and student organizations. The College of Nursing, the School of Occupational Therapy, the School of Physical Therapy and the College of Education and Human Ecology will offer separate presentations for interested students. Campus tours conducted by Student Delegates for Recruitment are scheduled at 10:45 a.m., followed by a gymnastics exhibition by TWU's national championship team at 11:45 a.m. Participants will eat lunch on their own and return at 1 p.m. for a panel discussion featuring student leaders talking about life on campus. A session on financial aid, presented by Governor Jackson (financial aid), will be held at 1:45 p.m., and the event will end with a wrap-up session at 2:30 p.m. by Charlotte Villarreal (admissions).

The program is free; interested persons are asked to call the office of admissions by Fri., Nov. 11, to reserve a place. For details, call ext. 3040.

CHILDREN'S BOOK WEEK MEANS FUN AT TWU

Children's Book Week will bring authors, autographs and fun to TWU during two separate events on campus. All faculty, staff and students are invited to attend a presentation by children's author Bill Grossman on Mon., Nov. 14, and a book sale on Sat., Nov. 19.

Grossman will speak at 7 p.m. on Nov. 14 in the library lecture hall of the TWU Blagg-Huey Library. A reception and book signing on the first floor of Stoddard Hall will be held immediately following the lecture. Copies of his book, Tommy at the Grocery Store, will be sold at that time. Grossman's presentation is sponsored by the TWU School of Library and Information Studies, the Graduate Library and Information Studies Association and the School of Library and Information Studies Youth Library. For details, call ext. 2602 or 2621.

The Graduate Library and Information Studies Association (GLISA) will present a book sale on Nov. 19 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on the basement level of the Blagg-Huey Library. Proceeds from the sale will be used to provide scholarships to members who need financial assistance. Paperbacks will start at 25 cents each, and hardbacks will be priced reasonably "for the financially challenged," according to student Laura Mayer. She added, "People will be able to find lots of great bargains, just in time for Christmas."

Access for interested buyers attending the sale will be available only from the library's west dock entrance. Parking will be offered in lots behind the library on Oakland Avenue. For more information, call Mayer at (817) 898-4880 and leave a message.

CHOIRFEST IS COMING

More than 250 high school and college women will perform on campus during the third annual TWU Choirfest on Thurs., Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. in Margo Jones Performance Hall. The program is free and open to the public.

The evening will feature performances by TWU's three choral groups: the Choraliers, directed by Pamela O'Brient; the University Chorus, directed by Dr. Janice Killian; and the Concert Choir, directed by Dr. Thomas K. Brown (performing arts-music). They will be joined by women's choral groups from Ryan High School and Denton West High School in Denton, Bryan Adams High School in Dallas, L.D. Bell High School in Hurst and Kingwood High School in Kingwood.

Selections will range from show choir songs to traditional choral music. After performing individually, the groups will join together for the finale, "With a Voice of Singing," accompanied on the organ by Brown and conducted by Killian. For more information, call ext. 2500.

AFRICAN DANCE CLASSES FEATURED

Godwin Agbeli, director of the Sankofa Dance Theatre, will perform and teach master classes in African dance on Thurs., Nov. 10, in studio 210, DGL Building. Both the master classes and his performance, from 2:30 to 3:45 p.m., are free and open to the public.

Known for his work as a coach and artistic director in the performance of traditional African music, dance and drama, Agbeli is a former member of the National Folkloric Company, sponsored by the Arts Council of Ghana. His residency is co-sponsored by the TWU programs in dance. For information, call Gladys Keeton (performing arts-dance) at ext. 2085.

COUNSELING CENTER ANNOUNCES SPRING PROGRAMS

The TWU Counseling Center will offer a variety of groups for students who wish to participate in programs offered for the spring 1995 semester. Groups, descriptions and meeting times are listed below; for additional information, call Debra Johnson at ext. 3801. To register for a pre-group interview, interested persons should stop by the Counseling Center in Jones Hall.

■ Adult Children of Dysfunctional Families -- For individuals who grew up in homes where alcohol or other situations painfully impacted the family and who still feel that influence on current relationships and behavior. A pre-group interview is required, and enrollment is limited. Two groups offered: Wednesdays, 2:30 to 4 p.m.; Mondays, 4:30 to 6 p.m.

■ Black Women's Growth Group -- A group designed to provide a forum for personal growth and support through the open sharing of common concerns, experiences and ideas of African-American women. A pre-group interview is required, and enrollment is limited. Group time: Tuesdays, 5 to 6 p.m.

■ Eating Disorders Recovery Group -- For individuals who desire to initiate or continue recovery from eating disorders such as anorexia nervosa or bulimia. The focus includes understanding eating disorders, identifying personal stressors that contribute to their continuation and developing coping/recovery skills. A pre-group interview is required. Members may enter throughout the semester. Group time: Mondays, 2:30 to 4 p.m.

■ Relationships -- For students who would like to improve their ability to relate to others. The group will provide support, feedback and a safe opportunity to try out new skills and behaviors. A pre-group interview is required, and enrollment is limited. Members may enter throughout the semester. Group time: Thursdays, 2:30 to 4 p.m.

FACULTY AND STAFF INVITED TO HELP HOSPICE

Ann's Haven Hospice, which serves the terminally ill and their families in Denton County and which has provided care to many TWU faculty and staff members over the years, is offering opportunities to volunteer during the holiday season. Persons are needed to work at the "Light Up a Life" campaigns at Golden Triangle Mall in Denton and Vista Ridge Mall in Lewisville Dec. 3-22. Volunteers will work with donors to place names on the "Light Up a Life" holiday tree.

TWU faculty and staff who would like to volunteer their time should contact Dr. Phyllis Bridges (English, speech and foreign languages) at ext. 2324; she is serving as the 1994 vice chair of the "Light Up a Life" program. Donors who wish to make a contribution in honor of any person or a gift in memory of a loved one are asked to participate in the "Light Up a Life" campaign by sending $10 for each recognition to Ann's Haven Hospice, 216 W. Mulberry, Denton TX 76201. All donations are tax deductible, and all contributions go directly to the care of the terminally ill. Last year, the "Light Up a Life" program received more than $30,000.

FACULTY SENATE OKAYS RESOLUTION

During the Oct. 14, 1994, meeting of the Faculty Senate, representatives approved the following resolution concerning annual peer review:

Whereas the university, its administration, faculty, Faculty Senate, and faculty evaluation and development committee have endorsed the requirement for peer review (B-9, Faculty Handbook) as a part of the policy for tenure and promotion; and whereas the administration, faculty, Faculty Senate, and the faculty evaluation and development committee have previously endorsed peer review for annual faculty evaluation according to the Framework for Annual Faculty Performance Review;

and whereas the faculty have been working in good faith toward implementing the Framework and its procedures and guidelines;

and whereas some departments have already implemented such procedures;

and whereas peer evaluation is consistent with the principle of shared governance;

therefore, the Faculty Senate affirms its support of annual peer review. The Faculty Senate encourages the university administration to continue the implementation of annual peer review in all of the colleges, schools, divisions and departments of the university as outlined in the Framework for Annual Faculty Performance Review.

WHO'S WHO SEEKS NOMINEES

Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges has invited the nation's institutions of higher education to nominate students for 1994-95 edition of their publication. Gary Washmon (visual arts) is accepting nominations and can provide appropriate forms; the deadline for nominations is Nov. 25, 1994. Contact Washmon at ext. 2530 for more information or nomination forms. Selection criteria are listed below:

■ The nominee must be a full-time undergraduate or graduate student who intends to graduate before September 1995.

■ The nominee must have a minimum grade point average of 3.25; lower GPAs will be considered in special cases of service, artistic merit, etc.

■ In addition to scholastic ability, the nominee should exhibit leadership and participation in academia and extracurricular activities, good citizenship, services to the university and community, and have potential for future achievement in personal, professional and academic endeavors.

■ The nomination of a graduate student should include more detailed information concerning academic and scholarly achievements than the nomination of an undergraduate. Additional testimony is needed for the selection committee to evaluate the contributions of a graduate student.

Mark your calendar: Inauguration ceremonies for TWU President Carol Surles have been scheduled for Fri., Feb. 17, at 2 p.m. in Margo Jones Performance Hall. Additional details and programs will be announced at a later date. Dr. Wilkes Berry (academic affairs) is chairing the inauguration committee, which will hold its first meeting at 3 p.m. on Tues., Nov. 8, on ACT 16.

A barbecue to benefit the Andrew Chauncey Fund has been scheduled on Sat., Nov. 12, from noon to 1:30 p.m. in the SC Garden Room. The cost is $5 per person; tickets may be purchased in the office of public information or at the mail room. All proceeds will be given to the fund, which was established to assist Kristie Chauncey (mail room) and her husband, Jim, following the birth of their son, Andrew. For details, call Gail Parr at ext. 3456 or Betty Hood at ext. 3199.

The account at Texas Bank in Denton to help the family remains open. Interested TWU employees who would like to help Kristie and Jim can visit the bank, or they can leave donations with Gail Parr; she will forward monies collected on campus to the account. Anyone who would like to mail in a donation should send it to: The Andrew Chauncey Fund, Texas Bank, 729 Fort Worth Dr., Denton TX 76201.

Reminder: Original choreography by 12 TWU students will be featured at the annual Fall Festival of Dance on Fri. and Sat., Nov. 18 and 19, in Margo Jones Performance Hall. Performances are scheduled at 8 p.m. on Friday and at 2 and 8 p.m. on Saturday. Admission at the door is $6 for adults; $4 for senior citizens, non-TWU students with ID and TWU faculty, staff and alumni; and $2 for TWU students and children. For more information, call Gayle Ziaks (performing arts-dance) at ext. 2085. The concert will include dances by six master of fine arts students and six seniors.

The TWU Wellness Center will offer diabetes wellness classes in November and December; the classes are designed to teach individuals about the role of diet and diabetes. Participants will learn about insulin-dependent and non-insulin dependent diabetes; the effects of calorie controlled diabetic diets; the use of an exchange system; cooking and shopping techniques for diabetic diets; and the role of exercise in diabetes management. The classes will be taught in a two-part series -- an hour per week for two weeks: Nov. 10 and 17, 6 to 7 p.m.; and Dec. 8 and 15, 6 to 7 p.m. The cost is $25, and classes will be taught by a registered and licensed dietitian. To register, call ext. 2644.

Reminder: Those persons who placed a $150 deposit by Oct. 26 for the January ski trip to Steamboat Springs (Colo.) must make their final payment by Fri., Nov. 18. For details, call ext. 3611 in the office of student activities.

Two special dining events have been scheduled by TWU students in the department of nutrition and food sciences who are enrolled this fall in the quantity foods laboratory. The first dinner will be held on Thurs., Nov. 17, in Hubbard Hall; the evening will feature a Southwestern menu and theme. Students from Denton High School-Ryan Campus will provide musical entertainment. The second event will be held on Thurs., Dec. 1, offering Italian cuisine. A limited number of tickets is on sale; cost is $6.50 per person. For information, call ext. 2636.

The Wellness Center Nutrition Clinic offers group nutrition classes on low fat, low cholesterol diets. The remaining class this semester will be held Dec. 1 at 6 p.m. in the center; cost is $15 per person. To register, call ext. 2644 or 2900.

It's Not Too Late to Help One Other

State Employee Charitable Campaign (SECC)

Local charities need help...

Many state and local agencies have received generous support from Texas Woman's University employees during the new State Employee Charitable Campaign (SECC) this year. TWU's internal goal is $20,000. To date, employees have pledged or contributed $17,892 -- 90 percent of our goal! More options have provided more opportunities for giving, and our participation has been high -- in spite of new forms and complicated instructions. Thanks!

We want to remind TWU faculty and staff that local United Way agencies are listed among those groups eligible to receive contributions. During the current campaign, because persons have donated to a wider range of organizations, local United Way campaigns have been affected.

TWU employees who would still like to make a contribution through the SECC program -- to United Way and other organizations that the university's faculty and staff have steadfastly supported through the years -- can do so until Thursday, November 10. Payroll deduction is an option, as well as bank drafts, cash or checks. Mary Ann McDuff (academic affairs) would be happy to accept any of these forms of contribution. If you have questions, call her at ext. 3310, or you can talk to the campaign representative in your office or department.

Your gifts are important...

Every gift is welcomed, regardless of size. Your department coordinator can answer your questions on how to complete the contribution form, or you can call Mary Ann McDuff at ext. 3310. Return your completed information form to your coordinator or send it to Mary Ann McDuff, Academic Affairs, ACT 10. Include cash/check/bank draft donations with the form or indicate that you wish to begin payroll deductions for the SECC. Campaign coordinators are asked to turn in any forms, pledges or contributions that they may already have or will receive no later than Nov. 10.

Payroll deductions are effective Dec. 1, 1994, through Nov. 30, 1995.

Our thanks to everyone at TWU -- it's never too late to show that you care!
