COMMUNITY LEADERS SEE TWU "BUILDING" ITS FUTURE

TWU's annual community leaders breakfast on Sept. 13 drew representatives from city government, area businesses, education and civic organizations who came for an update on the university and a glimpse at what the 1995-96 academic year will bring. Dr. Carol Surles (president's office) greeted the guests, introduced TWU's two new vice presidents and acknowledged special visitors during the early morning event. She discussed enrollment, the appointment of Dr. Jim Alexander (history and government) as legislative liaison for TWU, the faculty/staff general increase, state appropriations and special line items. Surles also thanked members of the Denton community "whose outpouring of sympathy and support to TWU and to the (Robert) Benfield family provided strength during a most difficult time" following his death in July.

During her main presentation, Surles described the following stages of construction and renovation on campus during a slide presentation for those who attended the breakfast:

- The first step in this two-year period of change will be the removal of Smith-Carroll Hall in late September or early October; it has stood empty for more than a decade.
- Additional parking for students and clients in the Multipurpose Classroom Laboratory Building will be built where Smith-Carroll stood previously.
- The next step is the removal of Bralley Hall, which began as a library and most recently was used for storage. It is structurally unsound and also will be taken down this fall -- probably in October. After Bralley Hall is gone, the area will be landscaped.
- Relocation of the tennis courts on Bell Avenue to a new site near the old track has begun. A new track will be built in the wooded area behind the library; the woods will be preserved.
- Construction of the Movement Science Complex should begin in late spring of 1996 and will be completed in approximately two years.
- The old Physical Education Building will be removed once academic departments have moved into the new Movement Science Complex. The area will become green space, which will open the view from Bell Avenue to the library and Hubbard Hall.
- A renovation of Hubbard Hall also will begin this fall. The first stage of the renovation process begins in October with student dining rooms on the north side. When the total renovation is complete, the building will have two new entrances on the east side of the building, three restroom facilities on the first floor, two elevators and remodeled kitchen facilities.
- The addition of sprinkler systems in residence halls, beginning with Guinn and Stark, also is included in the renovation plans.

At the end of her presentation, Surles reiterated that TWU's mission would remain constant. She told the audience that task forces in the areas of mission preservation, enrollment management, community service and technology had met throughout the summer. She said, "We will share with you the reports from these groups, which should form the basis for strategic planning as we approach our centennial year. We will seek your input and your advice on how to shape these plans to ensure that Texas Woman's University remains a unique institution among institutions of higher education in Texas."

ARTISTS IN EXHIBIT ARE "FAR FROM THE BORDER"

An exhibition featuring the works of Hispanic artists who are removed from the Mexican-American border -- called "Far from the Border" -- will be displayed at TWU from Oct. 2-27 in the Fine Art Gallery. The show, curated by Paul Rogers Harris, is free and open to the public on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. An opening reception will be held on Fri., Oct. 6, from 6 to 8 p.m. in the gallery. For more information, call the department of visual arts at ext. 2530

"The artists in this exhibit have blended their mother culture with the 'techno-mechanical' world of fast-paced urban life," said Harris. Works in the exhibition include paintings, sculptures, prints, photographs, crafts and installations.

Artists whose works are part of "Far from the Border" include Jesus Chairez, Steve Cruz, Eduardo Garcia, John Hernandez, Benito Huerta, Leticia Huerta, Rosemary Meza, Rafael Molina-Rodriguez, Robert Mungia, Celia Alvarez Munoz, Maria Garcia G. Pedroche and Jose Vargas.

In another exhibit from Oct. 2-27, Elise Ridenour will display her MFA exhibit, titled "Pattern, Process, Transformation." Her opening reception will be held at the same time as the event for "Far from the Border."

DANCE ALLOY FEATURED AT TWU AND UNT

Dance Alloy, a Pittsburgh-based contemporary dance company, will enjoy a 10-day residency at TWU and the University of North Texas, providing students at both universities with an opportunity to participate in a lecture performance and to attend an on-stage performance of the troupe, accompanied by area musicians and community members.

Dance Alloy, with artistic director Mark Taylor of New York, will provide a free lecture performance at TWU on Tues., Oct. 3, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. in Margo Jones Performance Hall. Several days later, on Fri. and Sat., Oct. 5 and 6, the company will perform at 8 p.m. each night in the UNT Theatre on Welch Street.

Tickets are $15 each for general admission; $7 each for TWU and UNT faculty and staff, plus senior citizens; or free for TWU and UNT students with valid identification. Tickets may be purchased with a credit card; call the UNT University Union box office at 565-2611. Tickets also are available in the TWU office of student activities, SC second floor.

During their Friday and Saturday programs, Dance Alloy will perform two of its works with the Denton-based music group "Brave Combo." Another work, David Rousseve's "Crossings," will feature a community gospel choir. Eight student dancers from TWU and UNT will have an opportunity to perform in the premiere of a new work choreographed by Taylor, and another work will include 40 community and student dancers.

Dance Alloy's residency is made possible with funding from the TWU office of student activities, the TWU President's Council, the UNT Fine Arts Series, Mid-America Arts Alliance, the Greater Denton Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts. For more information, call Dr. Janice LaPointe-Crump (performing arts, dance) at ext. 2085 or Shelley Cushman, UNT department of dance and drama, at (817) 565-2211.

HAPPY HOLIDAYS IN LONDON!

The TWU program in drama will sponsor a trip to London in December for its semi-annual London theatre tour, scheduled Dec. 26, 1995, through Jan. 2, 1996. The cost to join the tour is $1,180 per person, double occupancy; single rooms are available at additional cost, and a delayed flight return also is available. But time is running out for TWU students, faculty and staff -- and non-students -- who would like to go! A $200 deposit must be paid by Sun., Oct. 1; the balance is due on Nov. 20. To join the tour, call Charles Harrill (performing arts, drama) at ext. 2519.

"Spend a week (or more) in one of the most exciting cities on earth!" said Harrill. "Although theatre will be the focus of our tour, there will be plenty of time to explore and discover many of London's other cultural and historic resources. TWU's London Theatre tour, which is designed to coincide with university and public school holiday schedules, provides travelers with basic services at the most economical prices available."

The package price includes: round-trip economy class airfare between Dallas/Fort Worth and London Gatwick on British Air; round-trip transfers from Gatwick Airport and the hotel; hotel accommodations for six nights, complete with a continental breakfast; a London orientation session before departure and a London orientation tour upon arrival; currency exchange before departure; three theatre tickets to Sunset Boulevard, Richard III and Indian Ink (a new play by Tom Stoppard); a day trip to Stratford-upon-Avon; a seven-day tube pass for use on the London bus or subway system; and a backstage theatre tour of the National Theatre complex or the Royal Shakespeare Company's Barbican Center.

PIPER PROFESSOR NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

Each year the Minnie Stevens Piper Foundation chooses 10 professors who are recognized for their dedication to the teaching profession and their outstanding academic, scientific and scholarly achievements. Honorees receive certificates that name them "Piper Professors of 1996"; a cash honorarium of $2,500 each; and gold commemorative pins.

"The awards give recognition to the teaching profession, rather than to research, publication, administration or other related activities," said Dr. Carolyn Rozier (Physical Therapy), chair of the TWU faculty awards committee. Nominations must be received with supporting documentation no later than noon on Wed., Oct. 18. They can be mailed to Rozier in the TWU School of Physical Therapy, P.O. Box 425766, Denton TX 76204 or faxed to her at 8-1-3198.

To be eligible, nominees must be full-time instructors. Nominations must be submitted on two-part forms that are available from the faculty awards committee; call Dr. Robert Littlefield (psychology and philosophy) at ext. 2303 for copies of the form. "Part A" is an institutional form which should be completed by the nominee's department head. "Part B" should be completed by the nominee. (Please note that the forms submitted for committee consideration will be draft copies; they will be retyped and signed by the appropriate individuals before they are submitted to the Piper Foundation.) No more than five letters of recommendation may be submitted with the forms. Submit all nomination materials to Rozier as noted above.

FORM HEALTHY HABITS AT THE WELLNESS CENTER

The TWU Wellness Center encourages faculty, staff, students and community members to get in shape and stay healthy by using the center's equipment, classes and programs. Here are some helpful items to know:

■ Wellness Center hours, expanded for the fall semester, are Monday through Friday, 6 a.m. to 10 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.; and Sunday, 1 to 6 p.m.

■ Swimming programs now are held in the indoor pool. Hours for lap swimming are Monday/Wednesday/Friday from 6:30 to 7:30 a.m.; Monday and Wednesday from 12:15 to 1 p.m.; and Monday and Thursday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. The pool is open on weekends from 2 to 4 p.m. for family swimming; the cost for the Saturday/Sunday swim is $2 per person (Wellness Center members and TWU students swim free with valid ID).

■ The nutrition clinic at the Wellness Center will offer a six-week fall semester weight loss challenge program beginning Wed., Oct. 4, in JH 201. The group will meet every Wednesday from 6:30 to 8 p.m. through Nov. 8. The cost of the entire program is $20 for TWU students and employees ($25 for community members). However, participants can earn back $1 for each week that they meet their goals. Topics will include dining out, label reading, exercise, eating favorite foods, menu planning, eating motivations and assertiveness training.

■ The center's staff encourages the TWU campus community to participate in the American Heart Association's annual Heart Walk on Sat., Sept. 30. Registration begins at 7:30 a.m. and the walk starts at 8:30 a.m. Walkers do not have to collect donations; those who would like to do so can call Julie Jordening at ext. 2900 for a donation envelope. Anyone who wants to walk on the Wellness Center's team should call the same number.

■ Please also take a minute to fill out the Wellness Center questionnaire about the nutrition clinic that is printed on the next page. Either photocopy the form or tear it out and send it back to Linda King in the center. Thanks!

RELAY FOR LIFE NEEDS TWU TEAMS

Hundreds...possibly thousands...of Denton-area residents will lace up their athletic shoes, hit the track and run circles in Fouts Field at the University of North Texas in October as they participate in the American Cancer Society's "all-nighter" -- Relay for Life. This team-oriented event will give people a chance to remember cancer survivors and victims as they walk a mile (or more) in their shoes to raise money for cancer research. Anyone from TWU interested in participating can form a team (from 10 to 15 people). The team entry fee is $100 ($10 or less per person, based on the number of persons on a team), and each team member is asked to seek additional donations for the relay as well.

Event co-chair George Young said with a laugh, "Do you know 10 people whom you would like to spend the night with? Then you need to sign up for Relay for Life on Oct. 6 and join us in Denton for a 12-hour relay that means fun, food, games and a good time -- as well as dollars for cancer research and an increased awareness of a disease that strikes in many forms and touches the lives of everyone."

Beginning at 7 p.m. on the UNT track at Fouts Field, Relay for Life kicks off and continues through 7 a.m. Saturday. Teams of 10 to 15 participants must keep one participant on the track at all times during the 12-hour event. "The participants can run, jog, walk or even crawl," said Leslie Weber, event co-chair. "We just want people to participate and have a good time."

Relay for Life is the signature fundraising event for ACS, which depends on voluntary contributions for all of its programs and operations. ACS receives no funds from the federal government. Unlike other fundraising events, Relay for Life, according to Young, is a team event that involves corporations, businesses, service clubs, youth groups, neighborhood organizations and friends who can join together to raise money for the fight against cancer.

The non-stop relay features non-stop fun as dusk fades to night, and the night turns to dawn! Groups of volunteers have planned a 12-hour marathon of games, food, musical entertainment and time for talking with each other. While the event means fun and fundraising, it also means remembering victims and honoring survivors. Cancer survivors will take the first lap around the track at 7 p.m., and luminarias will ring the track either in memory of or in honor of individuals who have battled cancer. (A luminaria ceremony will be held at 10 p.m.) Donations for luminarias (a minimum of $5 each) are used for research and may be purchased in advance.

For more information about forming a team, call the marketing department at Denton Community Hospital, (817) 898-7080, which is serving as local headquarters for Relay for Life, or the TWU office of student development at ext. 3626.

UPDATE ON TWU ATHLETICS

Head tennis coach Jim Schulze (athletics) recently won the Dallas Tennis Association's Major Zone Seniors title on Sat., Sept. 16, at the Canyon Creek Country Club in Richardson. In the process, he also secured the number 1 ranking in Texas men's 75 singles. Schulze previously captured titles at the Texas Sectionals in Austin and the Fort Worth Major Zone Seniors, as well as the Paris Open men's 55 singles and the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation men's 60s in Waco. In other news:

■ The TWU tennis team's Sept. 18 match was rained out and has been rescheduled. Remaining games in September include a 3:30 p.m. match against Tarleton State University on Sept. 26 and a 3:30 p.m. match with North Central Texas College on Sept. 27. All matches are played on the TWU tennis courts; admission is free.

■ The office of intercollegiate athletics has scheduled a special event, 1995 Canoe Fest, at the end of this month to help raise money for the TWU Athletics Scholarship Fund. The event, scheduled Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1, is "a fun-filled event for families, students and everyone who enjoys canoeing," said Judy Southard (athletics). Admission and registration fees are reasonable. A family general admission ticket is one price -- $12 -- for all members. An individual general admission ticket is $4, while competition registration is $25, which includes admission, parking, a permit and a T-shirt. All admission tickets include one raffle ticket for an opportunity to win a 1995 Geo Prism automobile. Family and general admission tickets can be purchased in athletics in Jones Hall. For more information, call ext. 2378.

ATHLETICS, continued

■ The campus community is invited to attend "Faculty and Staff Appreciation Night" on Tues., Sept. 26, when the TWU Pioneers volleyball team plays the University of Central Oklahoma. The event begins at 5 p.m., and all faculty and staff with valid IDs are invited to walk over after work and enjoy the game. "This is our way of showing TWU faculty and staff that we appreciate and need their support. Admission is free," said Southard. Also...each volleyball player will invite a faculty member as her guest. Those guests will sit on the sideline with the players and will be recognized during the game as well. For details, call ext. 2378.

■ TWU will offer children's gymnastics classes (five sessions) on Saturday mornings from Oct. 7 through Nov. 4. Instruction will be offered from beginner to advanced in floor exercise and dance, vaulting, uneven parallel bars and balance beam. The staff will include Frank Kudlac (athletics), a safety-certified gymnastics instructor by the USA Gymnastics Federation, and members of the TWU varsity gymnastics team. The fee for all five lessons is $38. Registration is limited; call ext. 2378, weekdays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. before Sept. 28 for pre-registration. Class times will be 9 to 9:45 a.m. for pre-school (co-ed), ages 3 to 6, and 10 to 11 a.m. for girls (all levels), ages 7 to 17.

NEWSBRIEFS

A subcommittee of TWU's technology committee will conduct focus groups in Denton, Dallas and Houston as part of their efforts to gather opinions about what types of technology the university needs and how technology makes jobs easier for faculty and staff. All interested persons are invited to participate in one of the groups scheduled. In Denton, two separate groups will meet: focus group 1 on Mon., Oct. 2, from 3:30 to 5 p.m., ACT 3; focus group 2 on Tues., Oct. 3, from 3:30 to 5 p.m., ACT 3. The Houston Center also will host two separate groups on Tues., Oct. 3, in MGJ 711 -- focus group 1 from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. and focus group 2 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. In Dallas, a focus group meeting is scheduled on Wed., Oct. 11, from 2:30 to 4 p.m. in the videoconference rooms at Parkland and Presbyterian.

Reminder: TWU and the Sign Music Foundation will welcome Heather Whitestone, Miss America 1995, to the first statewide Sign Choir Festival ('95) on Sat., Sept. 30, in honor of Deaf Awareness Week. The festival will feature a day of workshops, a banquet and a concert that will focus on the fine art of sign music. The concert, which begins at 7 p.m. in Margo Jones Performance Hall, will feature Whitestone; Laura Loeb, Miss Deaf Texas; Mark and Beth Mitchum; Regina Davis; Sharon Johnson; and 12 sign choirs from across the state of Texas. The public is invited to enjoy an evening of sign and music. The cost to attend is $5 per person. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door on a space-available basis. Doors will open at 6:30 p.m. For information, call Becky Parton at (817) 383-0527.

The office of student development is seeking TWU students who are interested in attending a leadership consortium conference at Tarleton State University on Sat., Oct. 28. Transportation will be provided. Interested persons should stop by SC 208 or call ext. 3626.

A women's studies reception will be held on Thurs., Oct. 5, at 4 p.m., CFO 13. The reception has been scheduled to honor affiliate faculty in the TWU women's studies program and to thank supporters of the women's studies program. For information, call ext. 2052.

Reminder: Dr. Patricia Sullivan will be installed as chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro during special ceremonies on Mon., Oct. 2, which is UNCG's Founders Day. The ceremony, which will begin at 2:30 p.m., signals Sullivan's installation as the ninth chief executive in that institution's history. Sullivan, formerly vice president for academic affairs at TWU and interim president, is the first woman to serve as chancellor of UNCG. She became chancellor on Oct. 14, 1994. Former TWU President Shirley Chater, now commissioner of the Social Security Administration, will participate in the event and also will deliver the McIver Lecture during a morning program. Sullivan will deliver a formal address and will take the oath of office from UNC President C.D. Spangler.

Student health services will hold its second annual flu shot clinic for all TWU faculty, staff and students every Wednesday in October (Oct. 4, 11, 18 and 25) from 4 to 6 p.m. in the student health services building. The cost is $10 per person, and each participant should plan to stay at the clinic for 20 minutes after receiving an injection. The staff adds that anyone who is ill should not plan to get a flu shot. For details, call ext. 3826.

The office of financial aid reminds faculty and staff that Graduate Record Exam (GRE) fee waiver allocations have been granted for the 1995-96 academic year. "The university received a total of 10 GRE fee waivers; all of them have been allocated," said Raedean Bolton (financial aid).

A Saturday Visit is scheduled on Oct. 7 for students who are interested in attending TWU. Presented by the office of admission, the Saturday Visit is a morning program that offers admission and financial aid information, as well as campus tours. For information, call ext. 3047.

The task force on mission preservation reminds all staff members who received surveys in July and who have not had an opportunity to return them...to send them in. "It's not too late to return the forms," said Dr. Betty Alford (nutrition and food sciences), who chairs the task force. "If you want to fill in all or part of the form, that's fine. If you have misplaced your copy or did not receive one, we will send one." For more information, call Alford at ext. 2647.

Reminder: "The Role of the Federal Reserve" will be the subject of a lecture by Gloria Vasquez Brown on Wed., Sept. 27, at 2:30 p.m. in SC 006-007. Her discussion is presented by the talks and topics committee of SOAP; the program is free and open to all faculty, staff, students and the general public. Brown, a native of Benavides, Texas, is the official at the Federal Reserve Bank who is responsible for public information about community reinvestments, as well as fair lending laws and initiatives. She is a member of the Small Business Administration's Region VI, IMAGE de Dallas, the Dallas Nonprofit Capacity Build program committee and also teaches in the southwestern Graduate School of Banking at Southern Methodist University. For details, call student activities at ext. 3611.

The learning assistance center has scheduled the following programs in their fall 1995 brown bag seminar series: "Listening and Taking Notes," Sept. 25-28; "Critical Thinking (Math and Science)", Oct. 2-5; "Taking Tests," Oct. 9-12; "Critical Thinking (Literature)," Oct. 16-19; "Recognizing Learning Disabilities," Oct. 23-26; "Approaching the TASP Test," Oct. 30 - Nov. 2; "ESL Workshop," Nov. 6-9; "Managing Stress," Nov. 13-16; and "Learning and Study Skills Inventory," Nov. 20-22. All seminars are held on Monday/Wednesday or Tuesday/Thursday from 12:15 to 1 p.m., CFO 106. For information, call ext. 2046.

Reminder: Dr. Ann Uhler (Health Sciences) will present a slide program and thoughts about her Earth Watch research project about Estonia on Wed., Sept. 27, at 3 p.m. in CFO 204. All interested persons are invited to attend. For details, call ext. 2852.

Alexandria's Ragtime Band and the Vocal Jazz Ensemble, directed by Dr. John Flohr and Pamela O'Briant (both performing arts, music), will perform at the State Fair of Texas on Thurs., Oct. 5, at 3 and 4 p.m. in the Food and Fiber Pavilion.

Half-price Six Flags Over Texas tickets for Sun., Oct. 1, can be purchased in the office of student activities, SC 202, at a cost of $14.25 each -- which includes a free return ticket to "Holiday in the Park." For information, call ext. 3611.

The TWU supply storeroom will now accept deposit accounts to simplify purchasing procedures. This type of account allows each office to purchase necessary supplies. "To establish a deposit account, simply process a purchase order for a specified amount. List 'miscellaneous supplies -- deposit account' in the description column," said Jane Christiansen (supply storeroom). "Then bring or send the white and green copy to me." For more information, call ext. 3110.

Mortar Board Honor Society is collecting items for a November auction to raise money for that organization's projects and activities. Members ask all faculty, staff and students who would like to donate items either to drop them off at the office of student life, SC 206, or to contact Dr. Glenda Simmons (student life) at ext. 3601, Dr. Phyllis Bridges (English) at ext. 2346 or Patricia Reynolds at (817) 383-6846.

Together We Care...

State Employee Charitable Campaign (SECC) 1995

Every contribution counts...

Texas Woman's University kicked off its second annual State Employee Charitable Campaign (SECC) on Wed., Sept. 20. The university's goal for this year is $25,000, and "we are optimistic that we can meet and exceed this goal," says Judy Hildebrandt (Student Center), TWU SECC campaign coordinator. "We invite you to be part of this process."

SECC is a combined workplace campaign that provides state employees with a convenient and efficient way to make voluntary, tax-deductible contributions to agencies that best address employees' concerns. Designating a contribution to the TWU CARES Health Center or to the United Way of Denton County -- only two of many choices -- is a great way to support the campaign and put the funds to work within the community.

TWU employees will receive SECC brochures and pledge forms by Oct. 1. Take a moment to read the information and then send your confidential pledge to Hildebrandt, TWU Student Center, room 002. "Because agencies participating in the SECC must meet strict eligibility requirements, you can feel confident that your gift will be used efficiently," said Hildebrandt. "Our TWU family enjoys a long and proud history of charitable giving and community service. With your gift, we can continue that same tradition."

TWU employees can make charitable contributions through payroll deduction -- a simple and nearly painless way to assist people who need a helping hand -- as well as by cash or with a check. And payroll deduction is so convenient! With a minimum monthly gift of $2, you can qualify for payroll deduction, which allows you to have your gift deducted in small amounts from your paycheck each pay period.

Every gift is welcomed, regardless of size.

Participation is easy...

1. Look for the SECC brochure in campus mail.
2. If you have questions about the campaign and/or the pledge form, talk to your SECC departmental coordinator or call Judy Hildebrandt at ext. 3640.
3. Return your completed pledge form to Judy Hildebrandt, SC 002, by Oct. 20.
