

A New Degree Partnership Program in Culinary Science with Texas Woman's University

Associate of Applied Sciences (AAS) in Culinary Arts
TO
Bachelor of Applied Sciences (BAS) in Culinary Science & Food Service
Management

Complement your Culinary Arts training with skills of food science and foodservice systems management to earn a higher salary!

Earn this new degree in just about 2 years after completing an Associate of Applied Sciences in Culinary Arts from a Community College.

Career options include:

- Research Chef or Chef Scientist or Chef Manager
- Foodservice administrators in hospitals or schools
- Foodservice managers
- Business owner/entrepreneur

Community College Partners

- Dallas County Community College District / El Centro College
- Collin County Community College District
- Tarrant County College
- Houston Community College
- Others – To be arranged

Contact for more information

- Academic questions

Chandan Prasad, Ph.D., Professor & Chair, Dept of Nutrition & Food Sciences, P. O. Box 425888, Denton, TX 76204; Telephone: 940-898-2636; E-mail: CPrasad@twu.edu
Website: www.twu.edu/hs/nfs/

- Admission questions

Erma Nieto, Director, Admissions, TWU – Denton, PO Box 425589, Denton, TX 76204;
Tel: 940-898 -3188; E-mail: ENieto@mail.twu.edu

Nikki Washington, Assistant Director of Admissions, TWU – Denton, PO Box 425589,
Denton, TX 76204; Tel: 940-898-3022; E-mail: nyoungwashington@mail.twu.edu