Tenure and Promotion: Building a Career of Excellence

The criteria for tenure and promotion are predicated on the understanding that faculty continue on a course of professional development and accomplishment throughout their academic careers. The rank of Professor, the highest academic rank in the University, is awarded in recognition of having attained significant stature in one's discipline. In the Department of Dance promotion to the rank of Professor is awarded on the basis of having achieved national standing in the field of dance as well as having demonstrated ongoing teaching excellence and a strong commitment to departmental, University and national service. As faculty members serve during the pre-tenure years, and later in the rank of Associate Professor, they should demonstrate incremental progress toward achieving the level of excellence and national accomplishment commensurate with the rank of Professor.

In addition to the minimum University requirements for promotion through the ranks to Professor, the Department of Dance requires progress toward the development of national standing in the field of Dance. Candidates are expected to demonstrate significant scholarly productivity in national forums in the area of the Scholarship of Artmaking (Performance and/or Choreography) and/or in the area of the Scholarship of Research/Writing. In addition to scholarly achievements, candidates are encouraged to present national-level contributions in at least one of the following areas: Teaching or Service.

Guidelines for Achievement

Candidates with a primary role in the artmaking areas of the discipline with studio teaching responsibilities are expected to present a majority of scholarship in the area of artmaking. Faculty with a primary role in the theoretical areas of the discipline with teaching responsibilities in the areas of theory, praxis, research and writing are expected to present a majority of scholarship in the area of research/writing. Similar expectations apply to achievements in the areas of national contributions in Teaching and Service.

Significant scholarly contributions in national forums are required for tenure and promotion. In addition, individual candidates are encouraged to present a distribution of national-level contributions across the areas of teaching, scholarship and service. This distribution should reflect the individual candidate's national profile, achievements and professional role in the field of dance, consistent with the role and scope of her or his faculty position, as well as the mission and goals of the Department.

Guidelines for 'National-level' Contributions

Scholarship of Artmaking:

- Refereed (adjudicated, peer-reviewed) or commissioned performances or the presentation of choreography in national festivals (festivals that draw participants nationally).
- Choreography or performances with or on national dance companies (a dance company whose work is seen, publicized, or recognized by the field beyond its geographic base of operation will be considered 'national').
- Artistic work receiving published reviews by critics in recognized national geographic dance centers.
- Rehearsal direction, staging, and/or coaching of choreography/performance with or for national dance companies.
- Performances of works commissioned from nationally-recognized emerging or established choreographers.
- Refereed (adjudicated, peer-reviewed) artistic work in electronic and/or digital formats such as DVDs and films screened in national venues.
- National recognitions/awards for artistic achievement.

Scholarship of Research/Writing:

- Refereed (adjudicated, peer-reviewed) presentations at national conferences such as, but not limited to, National Dance Education Organization, Congress on Research in Dance, International Association of Dance Medicine and Somatics, and National Association of Schools of Dance.
- Refereed (adjudicated, peer-reviewed) publications in journals recognized within the field of dance and with national distribution such as, but not limited to, Dance Research Journal, Journal of Dance Education, Arts Policy Review, Journal of Laban Movement Studies, Contact Quarterly, Movement Research Performance Journal.
- Invited keynote addresses for national conferences and/or organizations recognized within the field of dance.
- Published books, monographs, chapters in books, edited books and electronic media including research-based DVDs and websites.
- Editor of a peer-reviewed dance research journal with national and/or international circulation.
- National recognition/awards for research/writing.

Teaching:

- Guest artist teaching residencies (Visiting Artist/Scholar) at colleges, universities and/or national festivals (drawing participants nationally) including extended workshops, lecture demonstrations, master classes, seminars.
- Visiting scholar teaching at colleges, universities and/or national festivals (drawing participants nationally) including extended workshops, courses, seminars, research symposia.
- National recognition/awards for teaching.

Service:

- Elected executive officer of a national dance professional organization.
- Member of boards (directors or editorial) for national dance professional organization(s).
- Elected or appointed member of a national-level commission, review panel, adjudicator or national conference planning committee.
- Service as a National Association of Schools of Dance visiting evaluator or consultant.
- National recognition/awards for service to the profession.

Additional Clarifications:

Candidates presenting scholarship, teaching, and/or service accomplishments within the TWU geographic region must provide a rationale for how these meet the standard of ‘national level’ achievement.

Teaching Excellence at TWU

Candidates for tenure and promotion must demonstrate excellence in their teaching roles at TWU as evidenced by a consistently high ratings in the area of ‘Teaching’ on annual performance reviews during the period of time in rank.

Department and University Service

Collegiality

Collegiality is demonstrated by an ability to share ideas, work collaboratively, participate in shared governance and engage in civil discourse.

Criteria for Tenure

Although a tenure decision routinely coincides with the decision for promotion within the tenured ranks, there are occasions in which the tenure decision occurs in isolation from promotion to the higher rank. In these instances the following guideline are in effect:

Criteria for Tenure for Associate Professor

The candidate must meet all of the criteria required for tenure and promotion to Associate Professor as set forth by the Department of Dance in the document, Promotion and Tenure Track Requirements.

In addition, the following two criteria will be given special consideration:

- The candidate must demonstrate collegial relationships and professional cooperation in the academic unit.
- The candidate must provide evidence of continued productivity in teaching, scholarship and service consistent with the needs, as well as the goals and mission of the academic unit and the institution.

Criteria for Tenure for Professor

The candidate must meet all of the criteria required for tenure and promotion to Professor as set forth by the Department of Dance in the document, Promotion and Tenure Track Requirements.

In addition, the following two criteria will be given special consideration:

- The candidate must demonstrate collegial relationships and professional cooperation in the academic unit.
- The candidate must provide evidence of continued productivity in teaching, scholarship and service consistent with the needs, as well as the goals and mission of the academic unit and the institution.

Credit Towards Tenure and Prior Accomplishments

Faculty who are hired with credit towards tenure may use prior national-level accomplishments to demonstrate ongoing scholarly productivity.
