Policies and Guidelines are current and supplement the TWU Graduate Catalog

Fall 2018

Welcome to the TWU Music Department:

On behalf of the music faculty of TWU, I extend a cordial welcome to all new students and a welcome back to continuing students. This handbook contains information on general department policies, procedures, and requirements, as well as specific curricular requirements for each of the music programs offered at TWU. You are responsible for the information contained herein, so take the time to become familiar with it and do not hesitate to ask any questions you may have. Although you will be assigned a faculty advisor based on your particular major, keep in mind that their role is advisory only; as a student you are ultimately responsible for awareness and completion of the requirements for your particular program.

Note that requirements change periodically as programs are developed to reflect new standards, state guidelines, and current practice in the field. There exists a possibility that the degree plan in effect when you first enroll at TWU will be modified to some extent over time, for example, when a new course replaces an existing course and the latter is no longer offered. You are expected to schedule an appointment with your advisor each semester for registration advising and reviewing progress toward your degree. Be sure you are familiar with the TWU core curriculum and graduation requirements.

In consultation with your advisor, you need to complete a Degree Plan during your first semester and it will be filed in the Graduate School. You can access your transcript through your TWU Pioneer Portal account to assist you in keeping track of your coursework.

All music students should get in the habit of checking your TWU email account and the department bulletin boards on a regular basis for announcements that pertain to you. Be sure to complete a student information form for your department file at the beginning of each semester and return to the Music Office.

The music faculty is dedicated to assisting you in reaching your educational and professional goals. Do not hesitate to approach the faculty for assistance or guidance with questions or concerns that may arise.

Sincerely,

Dr. Pamela Youngblood
Professor of Music
Chair, Department of Music & Theatre

ADMISSION

- Applications for admission must be approved by both the Department of Music and the Graduate School for formal admission to graduate music programs.

TRANSFER OF GRADUATE CREDIT

- Graduate students may request transfer of up to 6 hours of appropriate graduate work from an accredited graduate program.
- No more than 12 hours of appropriate TWU graduate credit earned as a non-degree seeking student may be applied toward a TWU graduate degree. Transfer credit must have approval of the department chair and the Dean of the Graduate School.

PLACEMENT EXAMINATIONS

- Graduate students take placement examinations in music history and music theory/aural skills. These exams are taken at the beginning of the first year of graduate coursework.
- Students who do not meet minimum proficiency levels will be required to remove these deficiencies through coursework or other approved study with graduate faculty members.
- The placement exams are not required for students who have completed an undergraduate music degree at TWU with a GPA of 3.0 or higher within the past five years.
- Undergraduate leveling courses may not be counted toward the graduate degree requirements.

AUDITION

- Graduate students entering the Music Pedagogy and Music Performance programs must audition on the primary instrument prior to the beginning of the first semester of registration.
- Vocalists entering the Music Pedagogy program also take a placement exam performing simple piano accompaniments and scales. Admission is granted on a provisional basis until the auditions and exams are successfully completed.

GRADE REQUIREMENTS

- A grade of 'A' or 'B' is required for courses to be counted toward the degree. If a student receives a grade lower than a B, the course must be repeated. In no case may a course with a grade below B apply to the degree.
- Graduate students are expected to maintain a B average on all graduate work.
- Consistent failure to do so results in dismissal from the Graduate School.
- When a student's cumulative grade average on graduate-level work falls below B or when a student receives a grade of D, F, or WF during any one semester or full summer session of twelve weeks, the student is automatically on academic probation and notified of this status. Earning a grade of D, F, or WF or failure to restore the cumulative average to B or above during the next enrollment results in dismissal from the Graduate School.
- It is not possible to improve the grade record at Texas Woman's University by attendance at another university. Students who have been suspended may reapply to the TWU Graduate School when 6 years have elapsed after the suspension.
- All course work will expire 6 years after it has been taken.

ADVISING

- Graduate students are assigned an advisor within the music department based on their major field of study.
- Students are to confer with their advisor prior to their initial registration, and at least once during each semester prior to registration for the next semester. Students should not alter their registration without consulting their advisors.
- Ultimate responsibility for correct course registration lies with the student.

DEGREE PLAN

- The graduate student and the advisor share the responsibility to file a Master's Degree Plan with the Graduate School.
- When the student presents a minor, a faculty member from the minor department must approve the proposed program through signature on the degree plan.

ADMISSION TO CANDIDACY

When the degree plan has been approved in the Graduate School, all admission or other conditions have been met, and at least twelve hours of coursework have been successfully completed, the student is admitted to candidacy for the master's degree.

THESIS/PROFESSIONAL PAPER/SPECIAL PROJECT AND/OR RECITAL

- Graduate students are reminded to study carefully the special procedures for submitting the professional paper, thesis, project, and/or recital. The Graduate School publication Guide to the Preparation and Processing of Dissertations, Theses, and Professional Papers (available online) should be consulted for information concerning the thesis or professional paper.
- Graduate students may use the computer and research consultant services of the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science in the preparation of professional papers, theses, and dissertations. To use these services, students must enroll in CSCI 5921 (Research Consultation Laboratory). The course may be repeated for additional credit as needed.
- It is the graduate student's responsibility to recommend the membership of the Research Committee. The Research Committee consists of three voting members of the graduate faculty, at least one of whom represents the major component.
  - Note: A prospectus must be in the hands of all members of the appointed graduate committee ten days prior to the first meeting of that committee. The first meeting of the graduate committee must be arranged before any data gathering work is undertaken. Consult the Graduate Catalog for specific requirements. Graduate students should organize their committee at the earliest possible time. The Committee must authorize the content and format for all graduate culminating projects. All research projects, including surveys, experiments, etc., that involve human participants must be approved by the university Institutional Review Board prior to the collection of any data. Procedures related to the IRB can be found on the graduate school website.
- Graduate students should note all deadlines and be cautioned to allow sufficient reading time for committee members who are responsible for signing theses and professional papers.
  - Note: Many documents require original signatures and copies will not be accepted.

ORAL EXAMINATION

- All graduate degree programs include a comprehensive oral examination. This examination is taken following completion of the culminating project. In addition to focusing on the student's area of specialization, the exam addresses music theory, history, performance practice, and research and bibliography skills.
- Topics include but are not limited to: score identification in terms of music historical period, style characteristics, possible composer, genre, and musical forms.

WEEKLY RECITAL HOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

HONORS AND SCHOLARSHIPS

- TWU music students are eligible for scholarship support from a wide array of sources, both within and outside of TWU. All students seeking financial aid are strongly encouraged to apply for assistance in the form of scholarships, grants, and loans through the TWU Office of Financial Aid. Their webpage provides comprehensive financial aid application information and resources available to all TWU students.
- More than a dozen music-specific scholarships are awarded annually by a Music Scholarship Committee consisting of TWU music faculty members, via formal scholarship auditions. For further information visit the Music Department Website. Students accepting department scholarship assistance are required to sign a statement of intent to attend the Texas Woman's University. Students currently receiving music scholarship aid from another institution must receive a written release from the music executive of that school prior to accepting any award from Texas Woman's University.
- In-state tuition rates may apply to out-of-state students receiving TWU scholarship assistance totaling at least $1,000. Undergraduate students from neighboring states may qualify for special tuition rates -- contact the Office of Admissions for complete details.
- The Annual Honors Recital features talented graduate and undergraduate performers whose selection is based upon a formal audition, authorized by the studio teacher. To be eligible to perform on the honors recital, a student must be a music major, be enrolled in private lessons, and receive the nomination of his/her private instructor. Two outstanding performers, one undergraduate and one graduate, are selected by the panel of outside judges who hear all of the honors auditions. The outstanding performers are announced and recognized at the annual Honors Recital. The names of recipients appear permanently on a plaque in the music office.
- Sigma Alpha Iota recognizes outstanding music student leaders each year with citation and merit scholarship awards.

GRADUATE ASSISTANTSHIPS

- The Department of Music is fortunate to have several Graduate Assistantships that support both the music major and general education instructional programs. Typically, we have 8-10 assistantships with approximately half being awarded to new students each year. In the Department of Music there are both Graduate Assistants and Graduate Teaching Assistants. Graduate Teaching

Assistantships are the teachers of record for the courses to which they are assigned and must have completed at least 18 semester credit hours of graduate work.

- Graduate Assistantships in the Department of Music provide students with a wide range of professional experiences, including a unique opportunity to learn about music and teaching in higher education.
- Graduate Assistantships are very competitive and there are always more qualified and deserving students than there are positions. Prospective graduate students who are seeking Graduate Assistantships should apply no later than March 1.
- Students must complete the Graduate Teaching Assistant Application found on the graduate school website and send it to the Music Department Chair.

In addition to the application, each applicant must submit a brief cover letter to the Music Department Chair which addresses the following questions:

1. Why are you seeking a graduate assistantship?
2. What is your ultimate career goal?
3. What strengths and/or skills do you bring to the position of Graduate Assistant?
(Include both musical and non-musical skills.)
4. Why did you choose to attend TWU for your graduate study?

For information about Graduate Assistantships, including stipends and benefits, please visit the Graduate School website.
