Chancellor Stuart to Retire in 2014

“When I arrived at TWU, I felt privileged to become part of this historic institution, and as the years have passed that feeling has only grown.”

— Chancellor Ann Stuart

Since becoming chancellor and president in 1999, Dr. Stuart has enhanced the reputation and visibility of TWU. Under her leadership, total enrollment grew by more than 80 percent between fall 2000 and fall 2012; the university received national recognition for its quality, value and diversity; and fundraising topped $220 million for facilities, scholarships and faculty development.

She also made significant financial contributions to the university to establish the scholarship programs, financial aid, athletics and student activities. The university on to another who continues.

Dear Friends,

After much thought, I have decided it is time to pass the stewardship of Texas Woman’s University on to another who will lead TWU to the next level in its long and proud history. The transformation that has taken place at TWU since I came here in a testament to the university, the students, the faculty and staff. It has been part of that effort and what it has produced — a vital institution recognized for its learning environment and the overall reputation of the students. Our students have grown strong and have distinguished themselves in the classroom, the laboratory, the community and globally through sharing their knowledge at conferences and clinics. In your career, we have enhanced the learning environment and the overall reputation of this historic institution. It has been a wonderful experience. I particularly am proud of what our students have accomplished and what they have become — high achievers in their academic careers and successful graduates in critical professions who return value to Texas and its citizens.

Together with the faculty, staff, administration and students, we have enhanced the learning environment and the overall reputation of this historic institution. It has been a wonderful experience. I particularly am proud of what our students have accomplished and what they have become — high achievers in their academic careers and successful graduates in critical professions who return value to Texas and its citizens.

Sincerely,

Ann Stuart, Ph.D.
TWU Board of Regents Adds New Members, Officers

Governor Appoints New Regents

Gov. Rick Perry has appointed four members to the Texas Woman's University Board of Regents, including the university's student regent. George Schrader of Dallas, first appointed to the board in 2007, was reappointed to a full term. Anna Maria Farias of Brownsville and TWU alumna Nancy P. Paup of Fort Worth are new appointees to the TWU governing board. All three will serve until Feb. 1, 2019.

Joleesia Berry of Dallas is the new TWU student regent and will serve a one-year term that expires May 31, 2014.

Mr. Schrader is a principal of Schrader & Cline, L.L.C., and owner of Schrader Investment Company.

“It has been a privilege to have served TWU for the past six years as a regent, and I am pleased for the opportunity to continue to work with such a distinguished university,” he said. Ms. Farias is an attorney and consultant in private practice.

“Growing up in the housing projects, I knew a good education was the ticket to my success,” she said. “I greatly admire TWU’s tradition of providing opportunities for students who dream of a college education, as I did.”

Ms. Paup is a fundraising consultant. She received her bachelor’s and master’s degrees in education from TWU.

“My educational and life experiences at TWU have played a pivotal role throughout my personal and professional life,” she said. “I am thrilled to have this opportunity to serve TWU.”

Ms. Berry is a junior business administration-management major.

“I feel privileged to be the ‘voice’ of the students,” she said. “I want the board to be aware of what the student body needs and wants.”

Jones Receives Chancellor’s Alumni Excellence Award

Drake University Provost Dr. Dennis Jones is the Spring 2013 recipient of the Texas Woman’s University Chancellor’s Alumni Excellence Award. She is being honored for her distinguished career in higher education.

“When I reflect on the tremendous foundation that was established in my professional career, it is important to note that my early educational experiences at TWU were key to my growth and development,” Dr. Jones said. “The investment of the caring professors that I encountered provided me with some wonderful models of excellence.”

Dr. Jones has served in higher education for more than 20 years, with extensive experience as both an academic and administrative leader. As the chief academic officer of Drake University, she oversees more than 70 programs of study and approximately 270 full-time faculty.

Her many career accolades include being chosen for the prestigious American Council on Education (ACE) Fellow program, spending her fellowship at the University of Kansas. She is also an alumna of the Institute for Educational Management at the Harvard University Graduate School of Education.

Dr. Jones received her bachelor’s degree in elementary education from TWU in 1974. She received her master’s and Ph.D. degrees in education from Texas A&M University.

In 2011, TWU Chancellor Ann Stuart donated $120,000 to fund a 20-year program to bring the two recipients of the Chancellor’s Alumni Excellence Award to campus each year to share their experiences and expertise with the TWU community.

State Leaders Reception

The Texas Woman’s University Board of Regents and Chancellor Ann Stuart recently hosted a reception for state leaders at the Headliners Club in Austin. The event was held to thank the many individuals who have supported TWU as Dr. Stuart prepares to retire in 2014. Shown at the event are, top photo from left: State Sen. Judith Zaffirini (D-Laredo), State Rep. Myra Crownover (R-Denton), State Sen. Craig Estes (R-Wichita Falls) and Chancellor Stuart. Bottom photo, from left: Regent Dr. Melissa Tonn, Rep. Crownover, TWU Board of Regents Chair Sue Schrier Bancroft, Chancellor Stuart and TWU Board of Regents Vice Chair Mary Pincoffs Wilson.

Board Elects Chair, Vice Chair

Regents Sue Schrier Bancroft and Mary Pincoffs Wilson are the new chair and vice chair, respectively, of the TWU governing board.

Ms. Bancroft has served as the president of the Argyle Independent School District Board, the Texas Winds Musical Outreach and the Festival Ballet of North Texas. She was also appointed to the Texas Commission on the Arts and held various offices for the organization, and was a member of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra board.

“I am honored to be elected to this leadership position and to help guide TWU in meeting the higher education needs of Texas and its citizens,” Mrs. Bancroft said.

Mrs. Wilson was a teacher in the Highland Park and Austin independent school districts for more than 30 years. She also directed the College and Career Center at Austin High School and served as president of Les Amis de Hospice Austin.

“It is a privilege to serve as vice chair, and I look forward to working with Mrs. Bancroft and my fellow board members on behalf of this distinguished university.” Mrs. Wilson said.

Ariane Stoker

ARIANE Stoker, a doctor of physical therapy student at TWU’s Houston Center, is one of only 40 students nationwide to receive a TYLENOL® Future Care Scholarship.

More than 25,000 students applied to the prestigious program, which awards scholarships to undergraduates and graduate students pursuing an education in health care. Ms. Stoker, who plans to become a pediatric physical therapist, received a $5,000 award to continue her studies.

Ms. Stoker has a long history of helping children overcome physical injuries, including serving as a volunteer in orphanages in Ecuador. There, she helped an Ecuadorian physical therapist work with children who have cerebral palsy.

Donna Scott-Tilley

Dr. Donna Scott-Tilley, associate professor and interim associate dean of the College of Nursing in Denton, is among 22 recipients of D Magazine’s “Excellence in Dallas-Fort Worth Nursing Awards.” The magazine selected nurses who go “above and beyond to make North Texas a healthier place to live.”

Kayla Jones

KAYLA Jones, a member of the Pioneers gymnastics team, is the first TWU student-athlete selected to represent the Lone Star Conference on the NCAA Division II Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC).

Ms. Jones, a sophomore business administration major, was chosen from a pool of candidates submitted by the conference. She will represent the student-athletes of all 11 Lone Star Conference member institutions.

Committee members participate in the annual NCAA convention, where they express the student-athlete’s concerns regarding proposed Division II legislation.

Ms. Jones has been involved in TWU’s SAAC for two years as a gymnastics team representative.

TWU Hosts Celebration of Science Event

PROLIFIC scientists in the fields of biology and chemistry discussed their research and provided career advice to future scientists during the second annual Ann Stuart and Ray R. Poliakoff Celebration of Science on TWU’s Denton campus.

“The insights and advice these speakers provide are invaluable to our future scientists and science teachers.” — Chancellor Ann Stuart

Guest speakers for the event were Kim R. Dunbar, Ph.D., Distinguished Professor of Chemistry/Davidson Professor of Science at Texas A&M University; Susan M. Rosenberg, PhD, the Ben F. Love Chair in Cancer Research at Baylor College of Medicine and professor in the departments of molecular and human genetics, biochemistry and molecular biology, molecular virology and microbiology; and Lita Proctor, PhD, program director of the Human Microbiome Project at the National Human Genome Research Institute, National Institutes of Health.

The daylong event included “Careers in Science,” an interactive forum in which the speakers provided career advice to students, and a symposium titled “Women in Science: Research at the Interface of Biology and Chemistry.”

“It has been my goal through the Celebration of Science Series to encourage the pursuit of scientific learning,” Chancellor Stuart said. “The insights and advice these speakers provide are invaluable to our future scientists and science teachers.”

Chancellor Stuart established the Ann Stuart and Ray R. Poliakoff Celebration of Science Series in 2011 with a $200,000 gift to the university. Through a commitment of two decades of funding, the Celebration of Science Series will provide the opportunity for the departments of biology and chemistry/biochemistry to develop a sustained program of promoting and celebrating the wonders, truths and mysteries of science.

The series will continue annually through 2022. Although events will vary from year to year, the intent always will be to engage TWU students and faculty, alumni, K-12 students in Denton and others in the community.

Softball Wins Conference Title

The 2012-2013 season has been a succession of “firsts” for the Pioneers softball team. After winning its first Lone Star Conference (LSC) Championship and LSC Tournament, the Pioneers kept the string alive by capturing the NCAA Division II South Central Regional Tournament — another first. As the TWU Times went to press, the Pioneers were headed to their first (there’s that word again) NCAA Super Regional series. TWU ended the regular season ranked 5th in the nation, the highest ranking ever for a Pioneers softball team.

THE Texas Woman’s University Former Students Association (TWU FSA) and the Office of Alumni Relations launched the new TWU Accolades Luncheon during this year’s Homecoming Reunion activities. Formerly the TWU Distinguished Alumni Luncheon, the event included the presentation of the new Hallmark Alumni Award. The TWU FSA also presented the Distinguished Alumni Award and recognized outstanding TWU students.

The new TWU Hallmark Alumni Award salutes graduates who have had a significant, positive effect on their chosen profession or on their community. The first recipients of the award are Carolynn Caldwell, M.S. ’97, president and CEO of the Desert Regional Medical Center in Palm Springs, Calif.; and Jessica Anne Setnick, M.S. ’97, founder and owner of Understanding Nutrition, PC in Dallas.

The 2013 Distinguished Alumni Award recipient is Carolyn Ann “Cad” Dennehy, M.S. ’82, Ph.D. ’89, Professor Emerita of the University of Northern Colorado.

Since the 1960s, the TWU FSA has honored select graduating students for their excellence in scholarship and service by naming them outstanding TWU students. Receiving these awards for 2012-2013 were Drew Curtis, doctoral candidate in counseling psychology; Hoda Yegegnehjio, a December 2012 master of science in nutrition graduate; Kelly Fisher, accounting major; Linh Huynh, mathematics major; and Barbara West, government major (legal studies).

TWU 2013 Homecoming Reunion — including Honors Convocation, the University Picnic and the Accolades Awards Luncheon — culminated in a weekend of activities honoring university alumni. Special recognition was given to the “Golden Girls” Class of 1963 at the TWU Former Students Association morning meeting and at the Reunion dinner. New features for the 2013 event included TWU student leaders and scholarship recipients welcoming alumni to the Saturday activities and the TWU Jazz Ensemble adding a festive touch to the dinner. The nationally recognized TWU Flute Choir and members of the TWU Chamber Singers performed for alumni and guests attending the Sunday morning service at the Little Chapel-in-the-Woods. The TWU Former Students Association coordinates Homecoming Reunion activities each year as a way to foster lifelong associations with classmates and the university. TWU Revives Annual Fund Campaign

Texas Woman’s University has revived the Annual Fund, known as Pioneering Our Future, to provide the resources to secure the university’s future and support its most urgent priorities.

Annual Fund donations will help supplement the cost of an education for a TWU student-athlete, keep up with rapidly changing technology, and support student and faculty participation at professional conferences, broadening their horizons and enhancing TWU’s reputation.

The Annual Fund will provide the resources to secure the university’s future and support its most urgent priorities.

The campaign runs continuously throughout the year, giving supporters the opportunity to make a gift of any size at any time. Pioneering Our Future also will build awareness of the difference any gift can make, and communicate TWU’s successes and achievements to alumni, faculty, staff and friends. The TWU Office of Institutional Development quietly began including the Annual Fund in its appeals beginning this past holiday season and already has enjoyed success in the number of donors and gifts.

Institutional Development also is nearing completion of a significant overhaul of its website, making it easier to navigate and simpler to make a gift. Comments and suggestions are welcome. The Annual Fund belongs to alumni, friends and supporters of TWU. Be among the first to support Pioneering Our Future by using the coupon below.

Foundation Receives $500,000 Gift

Eugenia P. Rayzor

Texas Woman’s University Foundation recently received a gift of more than $510,000 from the sale of property located on North Loop 288 in Denton. Eugenia P. Rayzor donated the 66-acre tract of land to the TWU Foundation as the Annual Fund, known by TWU as the Annual Fund, has recently received a gift from the estate of alumna Agnes C. Talley to Texas Woman’s University’s women’s basketball program.

Ms. Talley made the gift to the TWU Pioneer Club, which was established in 1984 as a fund for athletics scholarships. The university recently received a first distribution of scholarship dollars for TWU student-athletes.

“Aggie, as she was known by her friends and classmates, played on the badminton and field hockey teams as a student at TWU (then Texas State College for Women). She graduated in 1945 with a bachelor’s degree in health, physical education and recreation. She served as a teacher and counselor in Waco, where she retired with more than 40 years of service. She passed away on November 30, 2012 in Waco at the age of 89.”

TWU Adds Two National Honor Societies

National honor societies – for music and for leadership – recognize student achievement

Phi Kappa Lambda

A TWU music faculty discussion of ways in which to bring increased recognition to their students has led to a TWU chapter of the national music honor society Pi Kappa Lambda on campus. TWU’s petition to have a chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda, the only music group recognized by the Association of College Honor Societies, was approved in March.

“A TWU Chapter of Pi Kappa Lambda shows our faculty’s commitment to recognizing music students who attain high levels of scholarship and musical artistry,” said Dr. Pamela Youngblood, chair of the TWU Department of Music and Drama.

Founded in 1918, Pi Kappa Lambda has accepted more than 64,000 musicians from more than 200 active chapters into its membership.

Omicron Delta Kappa

THE TWU Leadership Institute recently established a chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, the National Leadership Honor Society. Omicron Delta Kappa will honor TWU students for their exceptional leadership, service in extracurricular activities and campus citizenship. The society also recognizes achievement in the areas of scholarship, athletics, campus and community service, social and religious activities, campus government, media and the creative and performing arts.

“TWU students are known for their commitment to leadership and service, and this new honor society allows the university to recognize student achievement in these areas,” said retired Maj. Gen. Mary Saunders, executive director of the TWU Leadership Institute.

Since its founding in 1914, Omicron Delta Kappa has initiated more than 300,000 members at more than 300 institutions across the country.

Fitness Center Receives LEED Certification, National Award

TWU’s Fitness and Recreation Center is the state’s first LEED (Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) certified recreation center at a public university.

The U.S. Green Building Council awarded the fitness center a LEED Silver certification for its environmental design, making the facility one of the nation’s top “green” buildings. LEED is recognized as the nation’s preeminent certification for the construction and operation of environmentally efficient buildings. In addition, the National Intramural and Recreational Sports Association recently gave the Fitness and Recreation Center an Outstanding Sports Facilities Award, noting that the building’s design and services enhance the overall student experience and assist in recruitment and retention.
